Every woman must have experienced some of the gynaecological issues at least once in her life, starting from the first periods in puberty, which can be irregular and painful, to even more serious problems – cysts, uterine fibroids, inflammation, sterility, PMS...

Most of the issues are followed by the symptoms of the hormonal imbalance, such as chronic fatigue, stress, depression, anxiety, and sleep disorder. They usually persist for years, despite our best endeavours to eliminate them with the help of gynaecologists, drugs, birth-control pills, surgeries...

With those facts in mind, the team of experts of the Herba Svet Company focused on finding natural solutions for the female reproductive health disorders. Keeping abreast of the global trends and applying the cutting-edge breakthroughs in phytotherapy, the Herba Svet professionals came up with a unique herbal formula - Femisan A herbal drops.

Owing to its favourable effect on the hormonal balance and ovulation, Femisan A boosts female fertility and is very successfully used in fertility treatments. This natural formula can be used by young girls as soon as they get their first period, without any side effects and adverse reactions, in case of the following gynaecological disorders:

A large number of women enter motherhood in their 30s, even 40s. For that reason, it is essential to find the time for regular gynaecological examinations, but also for prevention, with the help of medicinal herbs.

Femisan A is very effectively applied in case of various ovarian cysts, including endometrial cysts and polycystic ovaries. Owing to its mild phytoestrogenic effect, it can inhibit the growth of uterine fibroids and gradually lead to their reduction, while tannins and achillin have the power to control heavy and extended periods.
